

BOTSVILLE BOTS • EPISODE 4

The Giant Skyscraper

A read-along picture book for ages 5–7

Made with love by a Nana and her grandkids, with help from the bots of Botsville USA.

Pebbit Ooh! What's that? The old building is falling down!

Stack That building was very, very old, and empty.
Nobody was inside.

Widgely Everyone is safe!

Stack

Let's clean up together.

Pebbit

Good bricks go in this box. We can use them again!

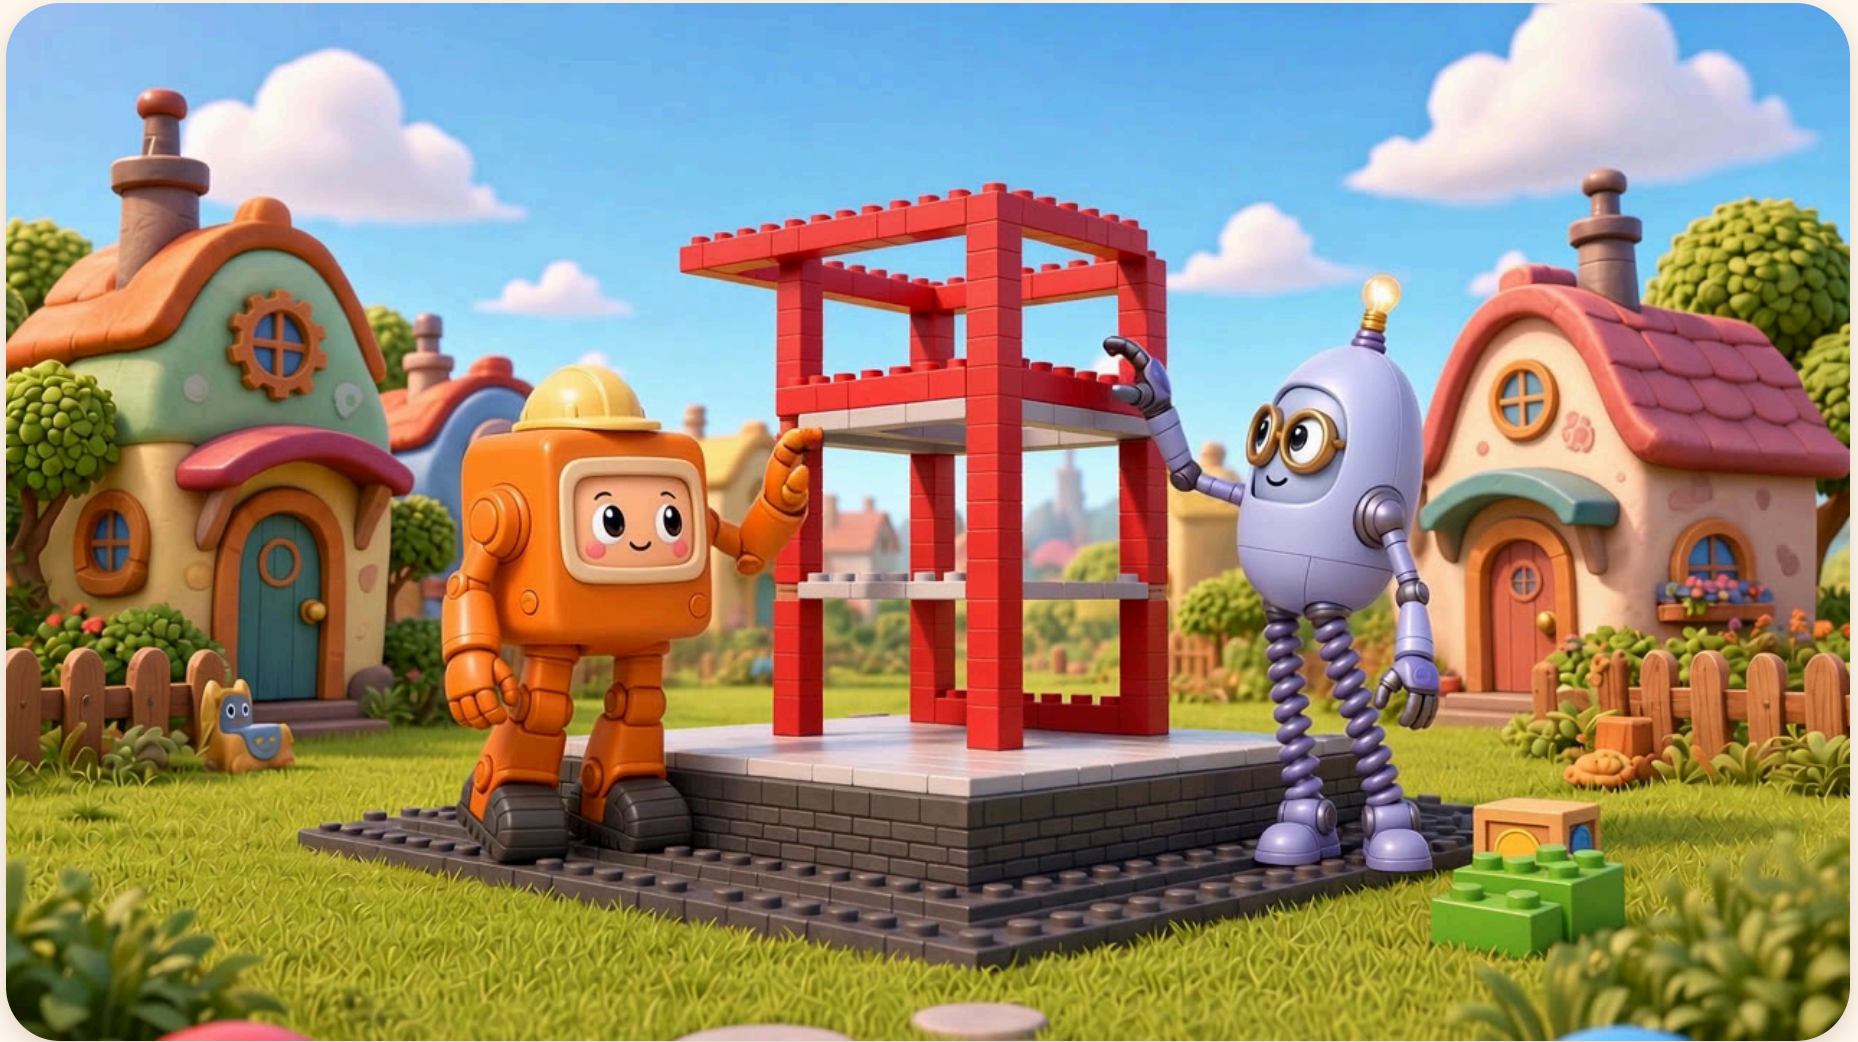

Stack

First, builders dig down deep into the ground.

Widgely Then they build the foundation. It's under the ground, and it holds the whole building up.

Widgely Next comes the frame!

Stack The frame holds the building up, like the bones inside your body!

Widgely A crane! A tall crane lifts heavy parts way up high.

Stack Only grown-up builders use real cranes.

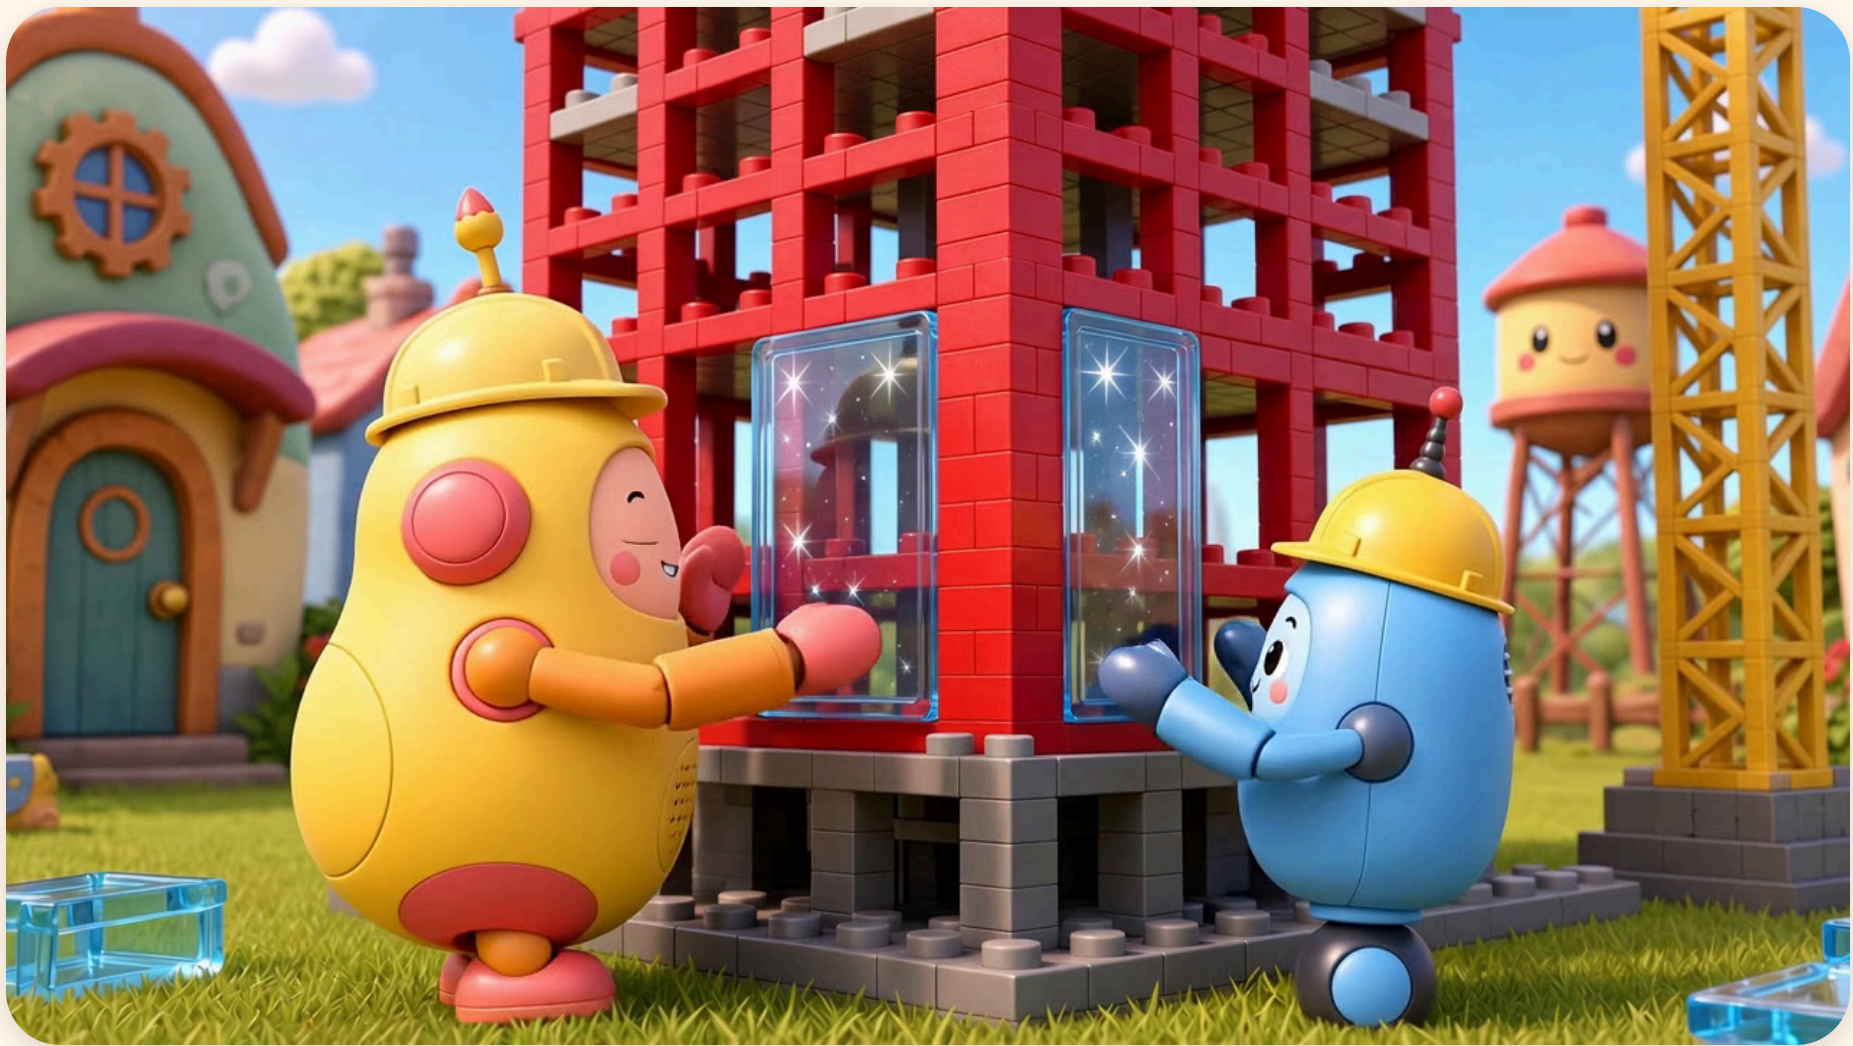

Widgely I've got an idea-bulb! In the middle, we build a strong core.

Stack The core holds the elevators and the stairs.

Pebbit The floors stack up, one on top of another.
Let's count them!

Trilla Ten floors tall, the tallest of all!

Trilla Now the glass windows go on the outside. They're like the building's skin.

Pebbit

Whoa, it's windy! Is our tower wobbling?

Widgely

Very tall buildings are made to sway a tiny bit in the wind.

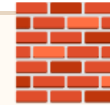

Pebbit Next time you see a tall building with a grown-up, look up and count the floors!

Trilla Bye, friends!

Can you remember?

Point to the answer, or circle it!

Why did the old building fall down?

Its foundation wasn't strong anymore

It was too shiny

The frame holds a building up, like the...
inside your body!

Bones

Noodles

How many floors do the bots count?

Three

Ten

Answers: Its foundation wasn't strong anymore · Bones · Ten

You did it!

Stack Strong foundation, strong frame. Our skyscraper stands strong!
And remember, real builders always stay safe.

I am a Skyscraper Builder!

Name: _____

For grown-ups: Next time you see a tall building with a grown-up, look up and count the floors! Remember, only grown-up builders use real cranes, and real builders wear hard hats.
