Passover

A read-along picture book for ages 3–8

Made with love by a Nana and her grandkids, with help from the bots of Botsville USA.

Chabot child Passover starts tonight, and the whole family is coming with us!

Nana This year, we are having our Passover Seder at Yellowstone, all together!

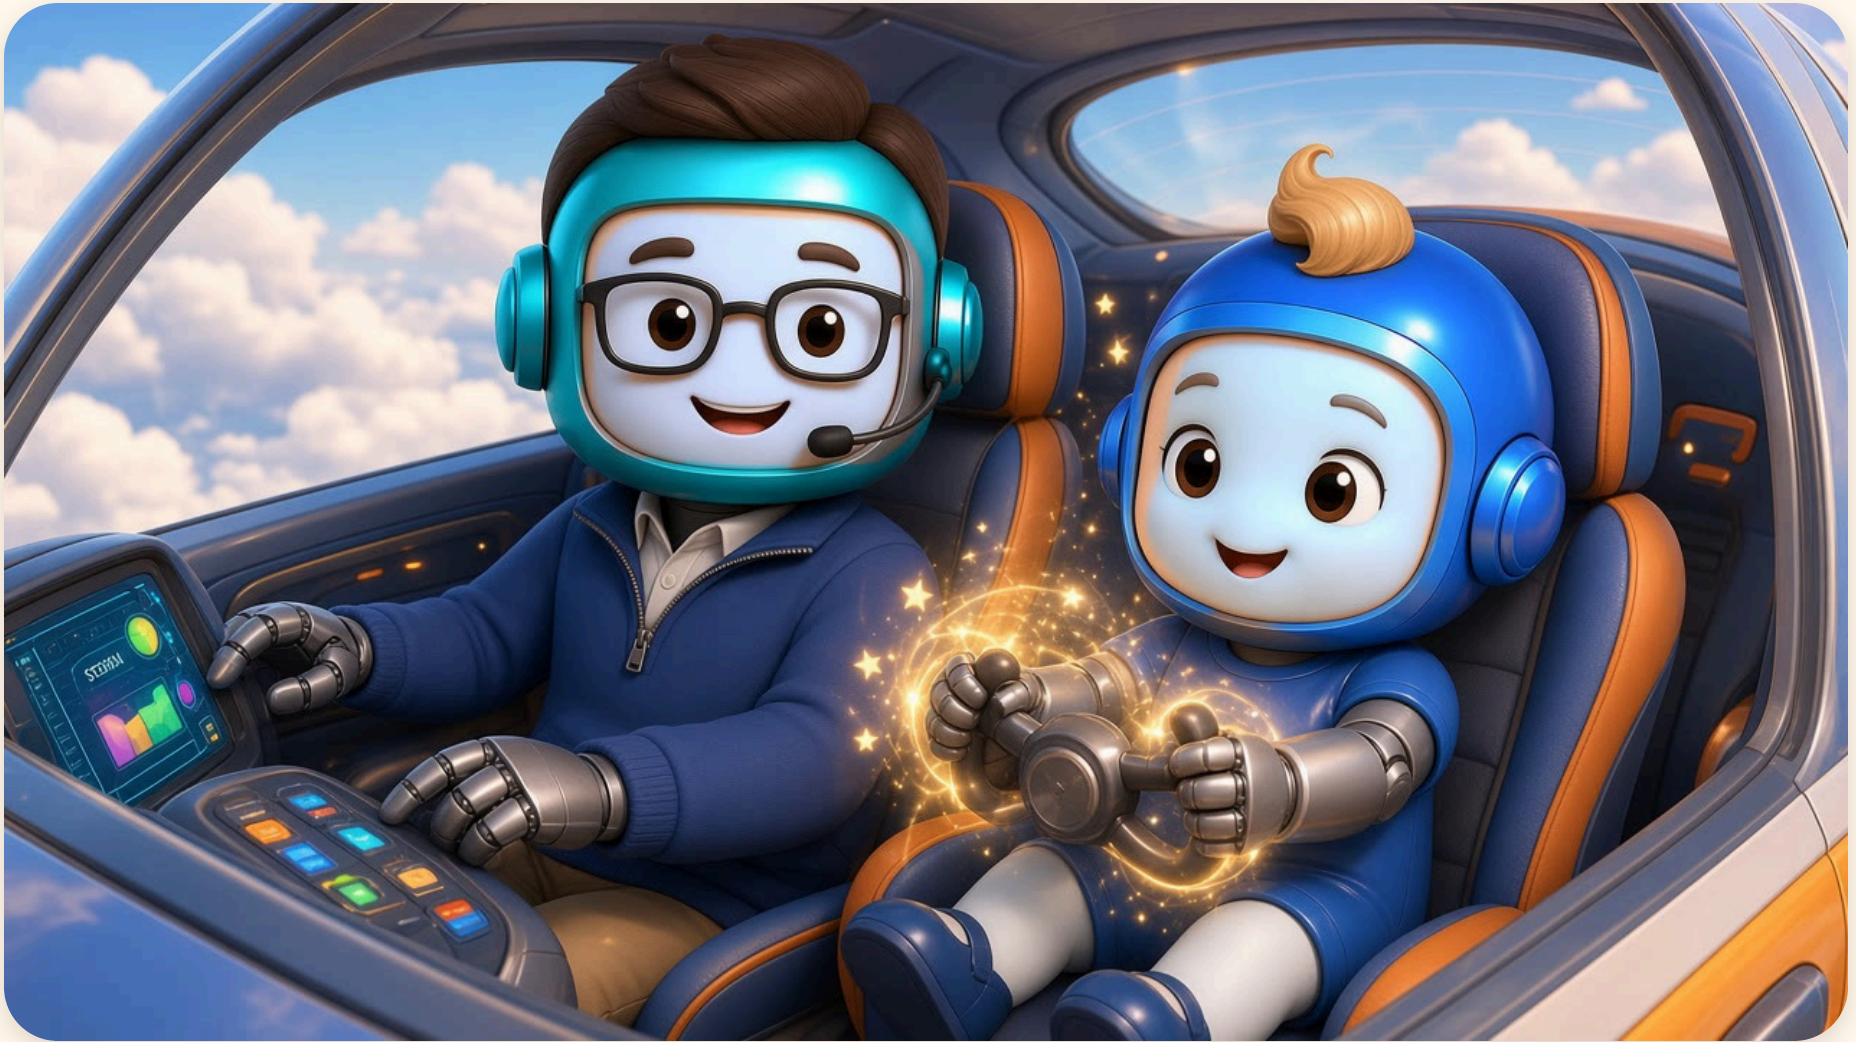

Chabot child

Look! The flying car is here!

Rabbi Chabot

Everyone in! We want to get there long before Passover begins tonight.

Mrs. Steinbot

Seatbelts on, everyone! Doctor's orders!

Mr. Steinbot

Ready for takeoff! And I have a very special co-pilot.

Chabot child

Baby Steinbot is helping fly the car!

Chabot child

What is Passover all about?

Mrs. Chabot

On Passover, or Pesach, we remember how Hashem took the Jewish people out of Egypt, from slavery to freedom.

Rabbi Chabot Tonight at the Seder, we will all tell the story together. Everyone gets a part!

Nana Before Passover begins, look who is calling!

Grandpa Hello from outer space! I can see your flying car, way down there!

Chabot child

Grandpa! Baby Steinbot is our co-pilot!

Grandpa

What a strong little pilot! Have a wonderful Seder, and ask lots of questions!

Nana Grandpa is still exploring space, but he never misses a holiday hello.

Chabot child We are landing! Look at the mountains and the trees!

Chabot child Is that a big buffalo?

Nana That's a bison!

Nana And over there is Old Faithful. It's a geyser that shoots hot water high into the sky.

Chabot child Whoosh!

Mrs. Botcohen The Seder table is ready, and the sun is going down. Passover is beginning!

Rabbi Chabot Seder means order. We follow the steps in the Haggadah, the book that tells the Passover story.

Mrs. Chabot And here is our Seder plate. Each food helps us tell the story.

Mr. Botcohen The bitter herbs are called maror. They remind us how bitter it was to be slaves.

Mrs. Botcohen The charoset is sweet and sticky, like the mortar the slaves used to build with.

Nana And we dip a vegetable in salt water, to remember their tears.

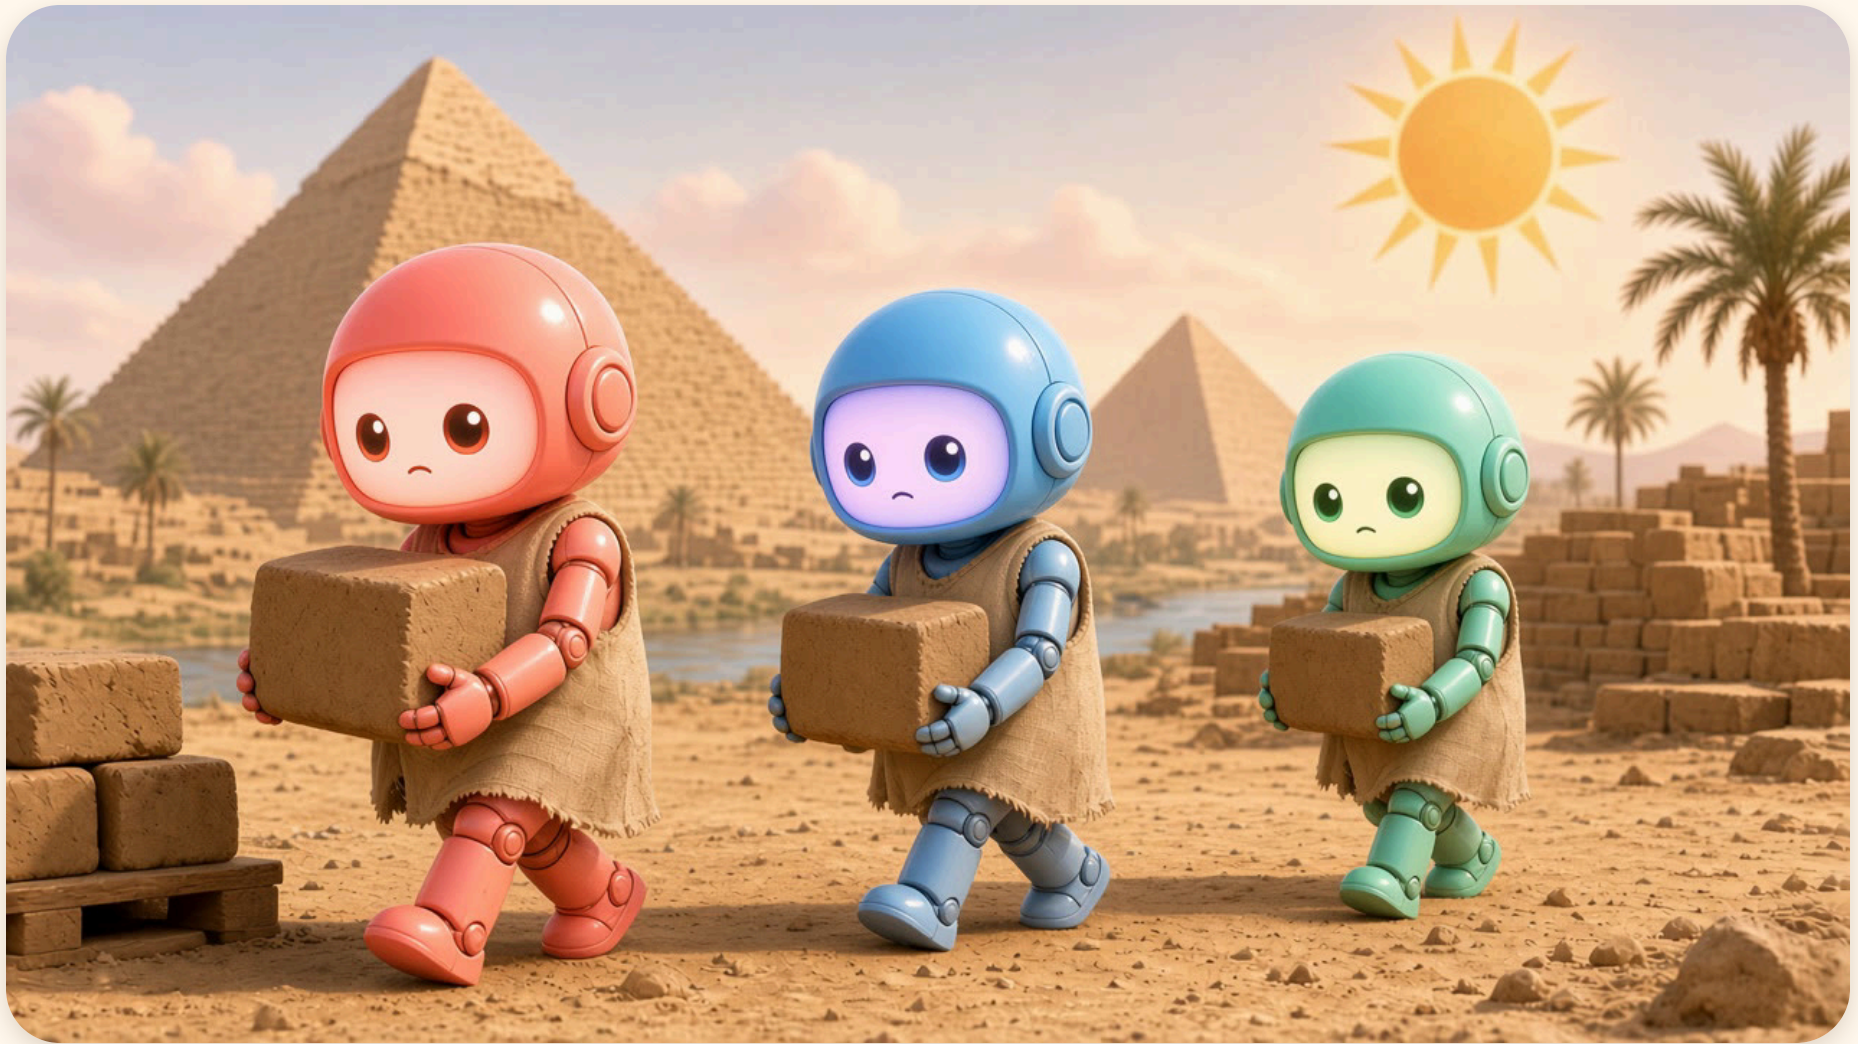

Chabot child Now I get to ask the Four Questions! Why is this night different from all other nights? Why do we eat matzah tonight?

Chabot child Why do we eat bitter herbs? Why do we dip our food two times? And why do we lean on pillows?

Rabbi Chabot Wonderful questions! The answer is the Passover story. Let us all tell it together.

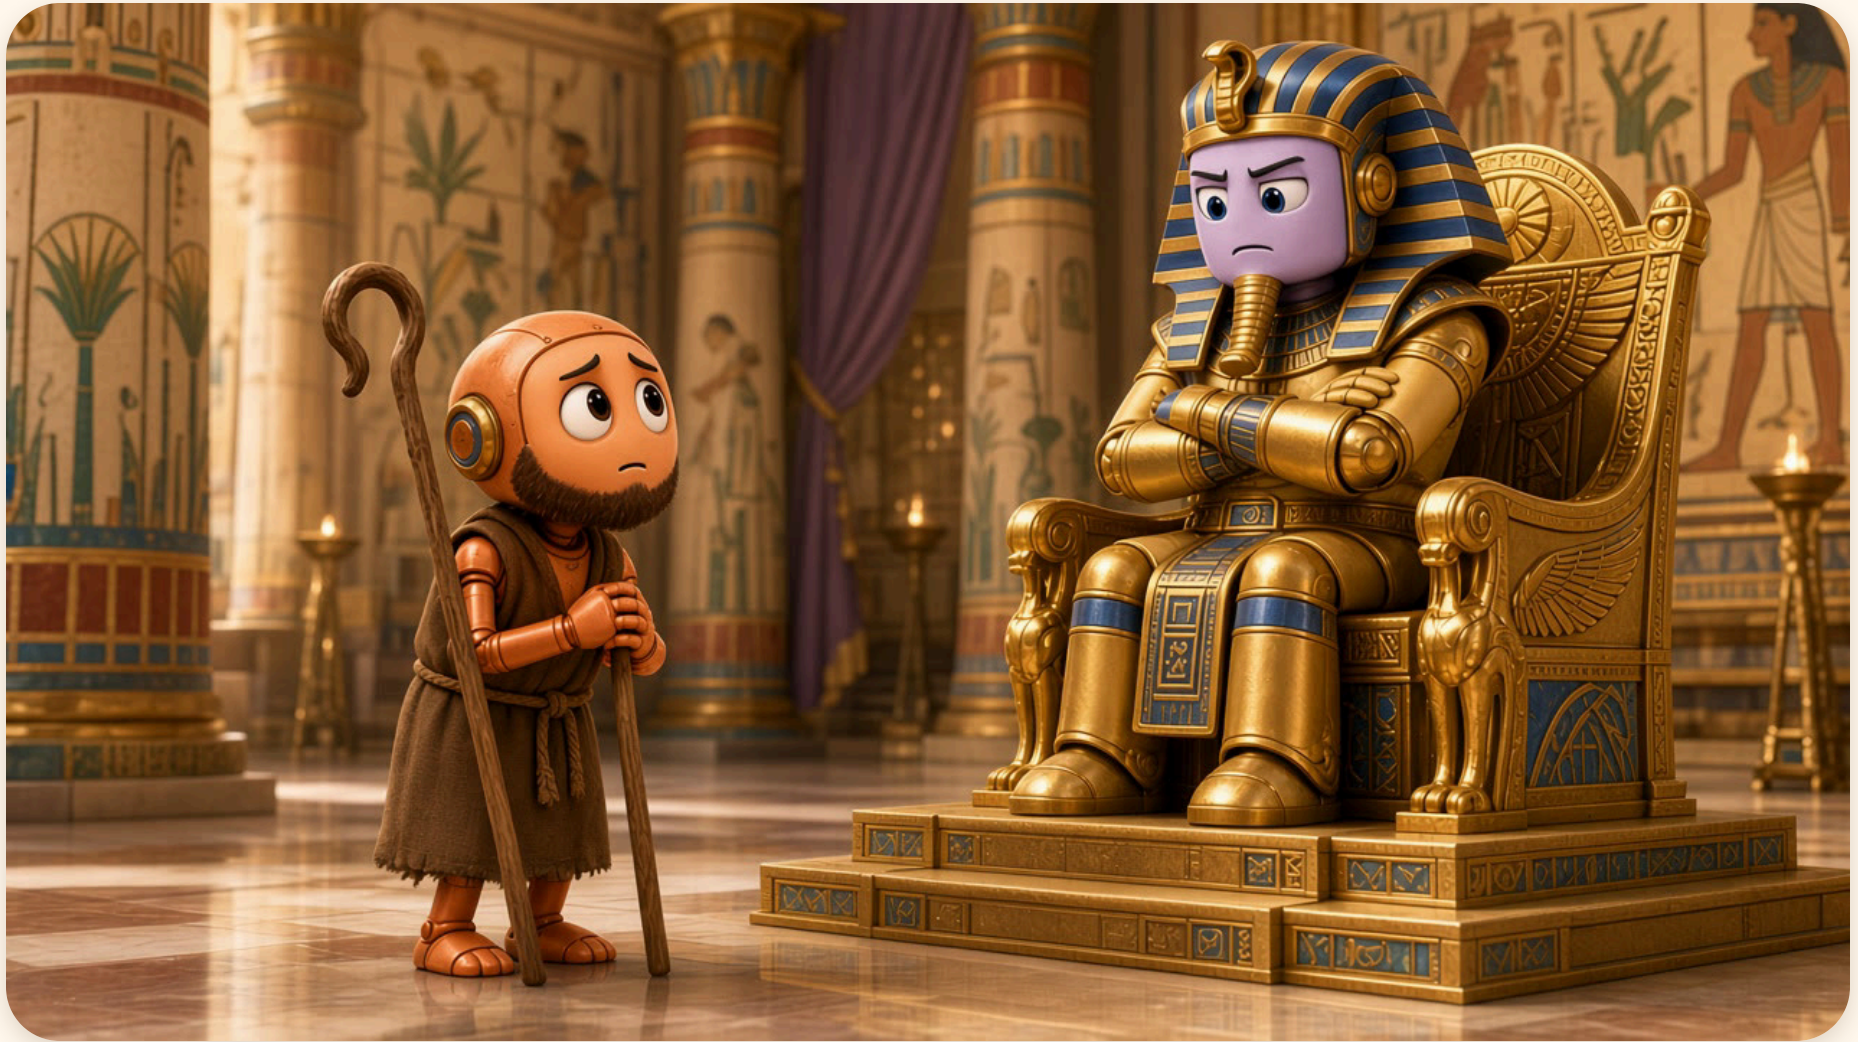

Rabbi Chabot

Long ago, the Jewish people lived in Egypt. A king called Pharaoh made them slaves, and they had to work very hard.

Mrs. Chabot

Hashem chose a humble leader named Moses, to help them.

Mr. Steinbot Moses went to Pharaoh and said, "Let my people go!"

Mr. Botcohen But Pharaoh said no, again and again.

Mrs. Botcohen So Hashem sent ten plagues to Egypt, like frogs hopping everywhere!

Chabot child Froggies!

Nana At last, Pharaoh let the people go. They left in such a hurry, their bread had no time to rise.

Chabot child So it baked into flat, crunchy matzah! That's why we eat matzah on Passover!

Mrs. Steinbot Then they came to the sea, and Pharaoh's army was chasing them!

Rabbi Chabot Hashem split the sea, and the Jewish people walked across on dry land, all the way to freedom!

Chabot child Hooray! They were free!

Mrs. Chabot Tonight we drink four cups of grape juice, to celebrate our freedom.

Rabbi Chabot And we lean on pillows, the way free people relax at a royal feast.

Baby Botcohen Yay!

Nana Every year, we tell this story to our children, and one day, they will tell it to their children.

Rabbi Chabot The Torah tells us to tell our children about leaving Egypt. And tonight, you all helped tell it!

Chabot child

Freedom is a gift. Thank you, Hashem!

Chabot child

When I grow up, I will tell the story to my kids, too!

Mrs. Steinbot

The whole family, together under the stars.
What a night!

Rabbi Chabot

Remember, be thankful for your freedom, and never stop asking questions. And as we say at the end of the Seder, next year in Jerusalem!

Everyone
